GAS BASED FIRE SUPPRESSION SYSTEM

CEASEFIRE QUICK RESPONSE SYSTEM

The panel, in turn, releases a hefty dose of extinguishing agent, suppressing the fire quickly. This quick mechanism makes CQRS the perfect weapon against hidden fires in microenvironments. Ceasefire's Quick Response System is available in the direct and indirect high and low pressure variants to suit the needs of different microenvironments.

The Complete System:

The single heat-sensitive polymer tube is connected to an extinguishing agent container via a pressure release valve. When a fire breaks out, it results in a drastic increase in temperature.

When it reaches 180° - 200°C, the heat-sensitive tubing bursts and releases the extinguishing agent through the direct or indirect line. The extinguishing agent is sprayed out of the container, flooding the microenvironment and instantly extinguishing the flame.
